

A simple blog design

Quentin RIBAC

November 2, 2017

1 Class Diagram

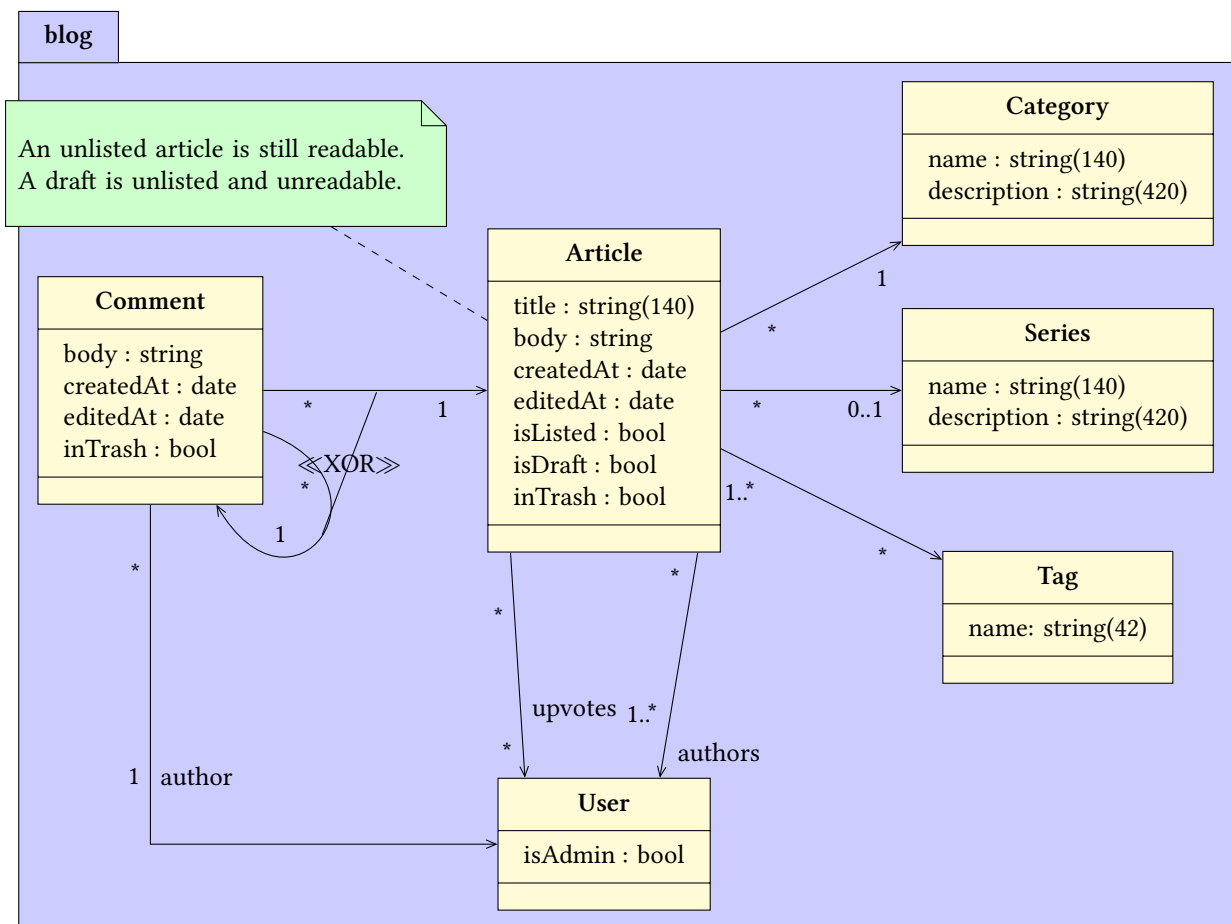

Figure 1 – Package: blog

2 List of Meteor templates

2.1 Components

article-body shows article body article-meta shows article metadata (authors, category, series, etc.)

article-short shows article for display in feed (small excerpt from the beginning) article-edit a simple form comment shows comment comment-edit a simple form category shows name, description and number of member articles category-edit a simple form series shows name, description, number of member articles series-edit a simple form user-rtfm manages user login, logout and register with forms user-status shows name of connected user, links to profile

2.2 Layouts

main with sidebar
plain without sidebar

2.3 Pages

feed serves as home, category and series page; uses main-layout read shows a single article with its comments tree; uses main-layout user shows user profile public information; uses plain-layout user-edit a not-so-simple form; uses plain-layout admin lets you edit blog title and such global variables; uses plain-layout

3 Sidebar contents

1. research bar
2. user-status-component and user-login-logout-component
3. if connected user is an admin, link to create a new article
4. current category if one; uses category-component
5. available categories as a list plus “all”
6. current series if one; uses series-component
7. enabled tags
8. available tags
9. misc. filters (author, date)
10. article-meta-component if applicable
11. about blog: a special article